INNOVACION Y VANGUARDIA

An architectural sketch in colored pencil and ink, viewed from an elevated perspective. The central focus is a modern building with a prominent, wavy, undulating facade. The facade is composed of many small, rectangular panels, possibly representing glass or solar panels, colored in shades of blue and green. The building's roof is a flat, light-colored surface. To the left of the building, there is a large, green, landscaped area with a curved path and some trees. To the right, there is a smaller, green, landscaped area with a path and some trees. The building is surrounded by other buildings and streets, sketched in a more abstract, less detailed manner. The overall style is artistic and conceptual, with a focus on the building's unique form and its integration with green spaces.
